Hardy Chrysanthemums

The Best List of Garden Mums in the U. S.

New Listings and Introductions

After surveying and judging the new Mums available this year, we find once again such unusual departures from the older varieties that we are devoting a special section of our catalog to them. We are especially happy to be able to introduce two new ones. Under test for three full years they have proven hardy, prolific, and appealing to those who saw them. They are low growers and completely adaptable to a wide range of uses.

Football Mums are constantly being sought after, and you will find the Big Ten Series (All the big state college names) in our list. These varieties while blooming a little late to go over big as garden varieties, will appeal to those who are looking for something a little more advanced on which to practice their talents for producing specimen exhibition bloom.

Included also are the efforts of the government field stations, and several of the most prominent hybridizers in the mum field. All have put forth their best efforts of the past few years and the improvements they have developed are contained within this list.

You will find that nothing has been spared in the care and development of these plants. All are lighted, sprayed, and given the benefit of composted soil. We are using a plastic pot which has given excellent results in the development of these newer varieties and in most instances you will receive the plant in the container in which it was grown, thereby eliminating crushed and broken pot balls, and giving you an undisturbed root system, for results that just can't be anything but good.

All New Listings are supplied from pots unless otherwise designated

TWO NEW 'MUMS BY MARTIN'

TAFFY. All the tempting shades of taffy being pulled at the county fair, including salmon, rose, buff, coral, and apricot. Because of its multicolor there is a definite appeal as a novelty for beginners and fanciers alike. Fully double blooms with a slightly crested center are a blanket of flowers for this medium low plant which blooms at the start of the mum season.

Per 10, $4.00; Per 100, $35.00

JEWELIGHT. Deep grape colored, pompon-like blooms, perfectly symmetrical, are just loose enough to allow the silver reverse of the petals to show well and light the whole plant with a silvery cast. Another highlight of this brand new one is its very low, completely versatile growth characteristic. Only about 8 or 10 inches high and 15 to 18 inches across. In bloom about Sept. 28th, this one has a place in your list.

Per 10, $4.00; Per 100, $35.00

Where Good Plants and Good Friends Get Together —

Dear Friends:

We are proud and happy to take this opportunity to welcome our many new friends and customers of the past year. This spring finds the addition of 1,000 new names to our customer list, and as the season draws nearer the prospects get increasingly brighter.

Our feeling is that there is more interest today in good things horticultural, than ever before in the past. The job of selling has become increasingly more easy, until one of the biggest tasks has become keeping an adequate stock on hand.

Potting and canning nursery stock has also brought about many changes which are advantageous in merchandising perennials. Take, for instance, a hibiscus in a gallon container, growing to a height of three to four feet, and producing huge platter-like blooms; is there any reason why it can't sell for upwards of a dollar? This holds true of a great many items in this book, so we ask that you seriously consider the big profit margins available by adding that "extra touch".

The weather this year has been ideal for the production of plant material. The Boxwood is extra green, the Forsythia extra yellow, the Daphne extra pink, and the future extra rosy.

Thanks, once again, to friends old and new. We welcome the opportunity of serving you and we look forward to hearing from you often.

Sincerely,

THE JOSEPH F. MARTIN CO., INC.
